NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Both serious and non-serious students of government and politics—the capital campus is cluttered with them—and have responded to the “Kennedy brothers’” shift in policy.

Only one thing is certain: New England has contributed since Franklin Pierce of Concord, N.H., to the Kennedy family.

The thrifty Calvin, who held the honor of inaugural parade while secret service men searched for a safe place for the money, did not do so. He did not do so. He did not do so.

His son, John F., did not do so. He did not do so. He did not do so.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (KRA)—The House education and labor committee carries on its scheduled two-day hearing on the omnibus and college aid program.

Two other Goldwater proposals are under consideration: a bill for relief for children in college and a bill for relief for children in college.

Best chance for passage is given to extension of the GI bill to expire June 30, 1954.

This program is 12 years old. It provides for 100,000 new jobs, 100,000 new jobs, 100,000 new jobs.

It has been given to Congress by the House and Senate.

School Names

School names can present a dilemma or pretty much take care of themselves, as has been demonstrated in Twin Falls. The last new buildings constructed here, named after the streets on which they were built. But ever since construction was started on the second junior high school building, many residents have been worrying about naming two junior high schools.

Now the school board has come up with names for the two schools, “O’Leary” for the old school and “Robert Stuart” for the new structure. There may be a little criticism from some of the school patrons who proposed other names, but mostly it can be expected there will be little reaction one way or another. Two few residents were vitally interested.

Whether the names are good ones remains to be seen. They could catch on right away or local residents could go on using the “new” and “old” designations.

“O’Leary” and “Robert Stuart” don’t become common usage, then it will be apparent the names are not suitable. Offhand, it would appear “O’Leary” will be accepted readily enough because it is a common enough name, well known in Twin Falls. But “Robert Stuart” may take considerable pushing and promoting if it ever becomes common usage.

Anyway, it would appear the Twin Falls school district won’t face the sort of hassle that has been building up at Caldwell. When the new high school was named “Valleyview,” a storm of protest developed. The matter went so far that petitions were out to change the name to “Valley View.” Some 1,200 persons signed the petitions which were promptly rejected by the Canyon county school board in May, 1952.

Caldwell hasn’t heard the last of that, although it’s silly to get into such a row over a name. It’s one of those situations in which no one can be right.

Views of Others

It is the convenience of the tax collector a major benefit of income tax “reform” Congress will have to take itself the question of “reform” is to limit the amount of deductions from taxable income which individuals can claim.

The administration says the present system of allowing full deduction of taxes, interest, and other deductions is “leading” to a proposal which is to limit the amount of deductions from taxable income which individuals can claim.

Pot Shots

Dear Sir:

It would be good publicity for our city if someone were to put all these potshots to shame with some sort of achievement on a one-day walking trip.

I’ll bet it would really make the rest of the country sit up and take notice if someone were to walk from Twin Falls to Magic Mountain, inasmuch as it’s my idea, I think someone else should volunteer to take it from there.

Just as a suggestion, Pot, why don’t you get off that soft chair and walk from Twin Falls to Magic Mountain with your picture in the T-N.

Slight Diversion

Developments in Iraq might provide some diversion for the communists, and they won’t like it. When the late Senator Karl Kassem, was executed, his death was a signal for open season on communists. The ironic part of the whole revolution is that the revolutionaries are using communist arms to eliminate communists.

Senator Kassem spent millions for communist arms and munitions for his army. Now some of those same arms are being distributed to civilians in some parts of the nation to fight communist agitators. As an example of the numbers of communists, one report said that in Iraq, there were a band of 3,000 communist demonstrators, killing some 250.

All the red technicians and instructors who went along with the military equipment will have a fine time scrambling for the borders.

It remains to be seen if the communists have a tight enough grip in Iraq to keep control. It’s obvious where the U. S. hopes lie because the U. S. rushed right to recognize the revolutionary regime just three days after the red premier was killed. The early recognition was an indication to permanency of the revolution, particularly if the new government should ask for and receive American help.

If Russia seems to neglect other events in the world for the next few days, it will be understandable. They’re losing it too hold in the Middle East.

Fitting Climax

The basketball game Saturday night between the University of Idaho and Gonzaga university will serve as a fitting climax to the basketball season. The advance sale of tickets for the game is high for the college game. Except for tournament games, the evening also marks the last game of the season for Twin Falls high school, which meets the Idaho Falls team prior to the college contest.

For those who go early and stay late, it’s going to be a big evening of basketball. Signs and indications point to the Twin Falls gymnasium filling up early because there are no reserved seats.

The Twin Falls-Idaho Falls game it felt should have attracted a fairly good crowd, but throw in the college game and spectators start eyeing the rafters for a while.

Although college teams have to be guaranteed considerable money before scheduling basketball games here, it would seem there’s sufficient interest. After counting the house Saturday night, sponsors of college games here each season. But ticket sales should be confined to capacity of the gymnasium to avoid a situation that developed for one college game when fans with tickets had to be turned away.

Civic Symphony Concert Is Reported Very Successful

BY MRS. MARSHALL LE BARON

"We should be grateful as a community for having a symphony orchestra with Richard Smith as its able director. This is a paraphrase of the comment made by Mrs. Lloyd Hamilton who appeared as guest soloist with the 'Twain-Falls-Civic-Symphony' last night at O'Leary Junior high school auditorium."

It is true that we should, as members of this community, be proud there is such a group functioning here. Each member of the orchestra deserves a great deal of time and effort toward the preparation of the concert, and we owe each one, individually, our thanks for this enlargement of the cultural aspect of our area.

Mrs. Hamilton's contribution was especially brilliant, and her interpretation of the "Schumann Piano Concerto in A Minor" was exceedingly sensitive. A depth of feeling for the romantic and lyric quality of the music coupled with brilliant pianistic technique left little to be desired on the part of the soloist. The sense of phrasing, dynamic and thrilling precision and clarity underlined her mastery of her instrument. She captured the already stunning performance with an equally finely stilled encore, "The Black Key Etude" by Chopin.

Smith is to be complimented on his choice of program. He offered selections which were imaginative and interesting for all facets of musical taste. Beginning with a spirited performance of the five-part "Solos Musicales," arranged by Benjamin Britten from a suite of

Cassia Trustees Accept Bids for Buses at Parley

BURLEY, Feb. 13 — Cassia county school board accepted bids for new school buses at the monthly meeting Monday evening but did not award any contract. The bids will be studied and considered before the next meeting.

A used school bus previously used to transport workers from Idaho Falls to the atomic energy plant was offered for sale by Milton Wilkey, Rupert. The board decided to take it under advisement.

Block 24 of the old townsite of Idaho was sold at public auction. Buyer was the Ruby company, Boise, owner of the surrounding farmland.

Rehiring of teachers was discussed but it was decided contracts will not be sent out until it is known how much money will be available for use by the school.

It was agreed to send letters at intent to the teachers being considered for rehiring.

Wives Flew Away to Die Aboard Plane

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 — The two suburban couples had always been afraid that "something like this would happen."

That is why, at Miami's International airport yesterday, Antoni Smigiel of Niles, Ill., and Joseph Broduski, Park Ridge, Ill., said goodbye to their wives and watched them fly away in Northwest Orient Airlines flight 705 to Chicago.

Then they waited to take a Delta Airlines plane.

The planes were scheduled to take off "only five minutes apart, but there was some kind of equipment delay and we were held up two hours in Miami," said Smigiel, a lawyer and bank president.

"We expected the women to wait for us at O'Hare," he said.

At O'Hare the husbands hurried to the Northwest ticket counter and were met by Smigiel's two sobbing daughters. The Northwest flight was making the Smigiel and Broduski were taken to a waiting room where they joined other anxious families waiting for word on the flight.

"We've been friends and traveled together for a long time," said Smigiel. "We thought we ought to take different flights back, in case something like this might happen."

The two men looked stunned and were met by Smigiel's wife, who was taken home by her daughters.

Broduski, a retired manufacturer and father of two, left the airport with a friend.

Some area residents are unhappy about the mammoth gym but, said county school Supt. John W. Long, "to say 95 per cent of the people are tickled to death."

Hatfield Belts Demos In 2 Talks

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., Feb. 13 — Oregon Gov. Mark O. Hatfield concluded a round of Lincoln-day talks yesterday on the note that the Kennedy administration and New Deal were "tearing away the concept of individuality that made this country great."

Before members of the Orange County Federation of Republican Women, Hatfield also said "we must fight this erosion using our minds, hearts and facts—and be willing to die and know why we would die for our principles."

Earlier at another Orange County GOP event, Hatfield said the Republican Party must stop daydreaming about its next candidate and get busy at the present level.

He said, "We must work and concentrate instead on the present worker, and what he is doing."

The 40-year-old governor, mentioned as a possible running mate for New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, said "Concerned Republicans have done much in the last year of talk but this is the day for action."

Hatfield said a primary cause in the erosion of our freedoms is the growing worship of the god of mediocrity.

He said "This enemy of America is just as strong as the current threat of communism."

FROM ALL ANGLES
BY LARRY HOVEY
"We'll have a hustling ball club."

How many managers have promised fans that? With no way to compare their charges with what they will be called on to beat in league play, managers have been less than forthcoming in making such promises. I am not sure if it is different, but I'll promise you I'll have a hustling ball club. I know a lot of managers say that but I promise it. They say you can't threaten these young kids in the first year or two of pro ball, but I do. I just tell them before the season starts that whenever it becomes evident to me they aren't hustling well, I'll start holding morning workouts. And we'll work out every morning at 9 a.m. until I feel they are hustling during the games again, he said.

John, in Twin Falls to attend the baseball banquet Wednesday night, has his ideas on managing.

He listed as the first thing he looks for as a "short relief man," a pitcher to come in and stop the opposition for two or three innings late in the game.

Without him, you're restricted. Last year, I had Herbberger (Charlie Herberger). For me, a Cowboy pitcher, I picked up 50 games for me. I loved knowing he was out there every other night," Johnson added.

He climbed off the Greyhound bus with his shaving kit in one hand and a book entitled "Scout Baseball Problems" in the other. "This is something you can't go over all the time," he said after introductions, waving the book.

Johnson felt increasing the veteran limit from four to six and raising the overall roster limit to 10 will assure a better caliber of baseball in the Pioneer league.

Concerning himself, Johnson said "I'll lose my temper and get kicked out of three, maybe four ball games this summer. Most of them will be at home. But I don't give the umpires trouble just to be doing something."

"One thing I don't like and won't stand for is cursing on the field. I've never done it but last year I was arrested during the game because my catcher did. Yeah," he answered inquiring looks. "One of the stadium cops got mad at me during the season. In the first playoff game the umpire blew one that cost us two runs. The catcher made his crack and this house cop told me if the catcher cursed again I'd be arrested."

"A while later three city cops came down and told me I was under arrest for disturbing the

Hailey Hears Importance of Museum Plan

HAILEY, Feb. 13 — "The wood river valley has a story worth telling and remembering," H. J. Swinney, Boise, director of the Idaho State Historical society, told Chamber of Commerce members Monday noon at the Star cafe.

"The youngsters of tomorrow will be proud of the things their forefathers achieved," he said. "It is up to you to see your children know that story."

He pointed out people often get the "cart before the horse," the cart being the operation of a historical museum for its tourist attraction and the horse being the preservation of the historical heritage of a community.

Swinney, who inspected the newly remodeled Blaine county historical society building, gave pointers in setting up and maintaining an historical building. The first duty is to acquire and preserve those articles which tell the story of the area, to carefully study them and maintain businesslike records, he said.

Swinney, who has been director of the state society the past seven years, said if the "horse is placed where it should be the cart will follow along nicely and a good museum will attract tourists."

"Tourism should be a by-product of a true historical museum," he stated. "If you set up an institution only to make money, the project will be self-defeating. A good museum will attract people."

The city of Hailey has agreed to provide some funds and it is hoped Blaine county commissioners will make the necessary levy to raise about $2500 for the museum. Swinney promised assistance from the state museum, especially in advice on displaying material.

He advised members of the museum to get legal title to the objects they display, arriving at the fact that "tourist" articles prove to be a great difficulty. Swinney was introduced by Joseph W. Phil, Mayor. Jack Davies expressed how the museum will be operating for the 25th anniversary. The interior of the building is ready for display cases, but the north side wall of the adobe building still requires work.

Richard Stephens, president of the chamber, said he will appoint a committee immediately to work with the museum committee in raising funds.

He set Feb. 25 as the next chamber meeting, when plans for the annual "Who and Where" banquet will be discussed. The matter of the Fourth of July celebration also was discussed, with a special meeting for this to be announced later.

Each year the club donates $25 to the Ketchum-Sun Valley library association to purchase children's books. Another project in the grade school is gathering ski equipment to be given to children who are unable to purchase it themselves.

Mrs. Lyman Hammon is president of the club and Mrs. Ted Werry is her coordinator.

Mrs. Robert Shay is in charge of Saturday's smorgasbord.

Cat's Back Can Help Posture

IOWA CITY, Ia., Feb. 13 (UPI) — A tip from an alley cat may help you improve your posture by stealing a trick from family pets.

Another of Barham's exercises is called the "dog stretch." It involves bending down from a standing position until the palms touch the floor.
